Dedicated Bandwidth

What is it?

Allocated bandwidth that is assigned to members and separated from the shared building pool.

Dedicated bandwidth is typically supplied by two Internet service providers for added resilience.

Benefits

Privacy and Security

Private Network (PVLAN & SSID) and Public IP included.

Flexibility

No long-term contracts. Savings on installation fees compared to purchasing bandwidth directly w/ provider.

Cost-effective

Superior bandwidth pricing with month-to-month flexibility, no long term contract, Wayleaves or License to Alters

Public IP

What is it?

Public IP addresses provides the ability for members to access their internet-based services from outside of a WeWork office with added member hardware. (i.e. Home or other office spaces)

Members would request this for:

- A point to point VPN solution
- Accessing a device remotely

Benefits

Privacy and Security

A Public IP is typically used in conjunction with members' own equipment which gives them more control over data security.

Access

A Public IP helps provide greater access possibilities from outside of a WeWork building.

Private VLAN

What is it?

This is a wired VLAN offering.

VLAN stands for Virtual Local Area Network. It is what WeWork's network operates within.

A Private VLAN is a segregated network that separates member traffic and provides an extra layer of security by isolating the available ports within the member's office.

Benefits

Privacy and Security

A private VLAN separates members' wired equipment within the members office.

Networking

Allows members to securely access other computers or equipment within their company over a wired connection.

Private SSID

What is it?

This is a wireless VLAN offering.

SSID is short for Service Set Identifier.

A Private SSID provides the member with their own private wireless network (Wi-Fi) on WeWork services.

Private SSID is broadcasted on the members' occupied floor(s) only using secure unique passwords.

Benefits

Privacy and Security

Isolates and segregates the members' network wirelessly. WeWork SSID adds an additional level of security.

Reduced Network Connections

No wires. Provides a sustainable, single connection. Supports member owned services (printers, PC to PC, Airplay, etc.).

Co-Location Rackspace

What is it?

Colocation is offered to members who wish to store network equipment in WeWork IT closets.

This provides network equipment with adequate power, cooling and physical security.

Benefits

Flexibility to expand to more floors and offices in the building if a Member grows or changes their office needs.

Reduced capex compared to dedicated IT closet configurations.

Secure compartments with combination locking solution, and in certain markets data closets are fitted with CCTV and access control systems.

Note

This set up fee includes one days' access to a WeWork data closet where the rackspace is located. If additional days' access is required, additional set up fees may apply
