Platform Overview

Put your bank at the center of business payments.

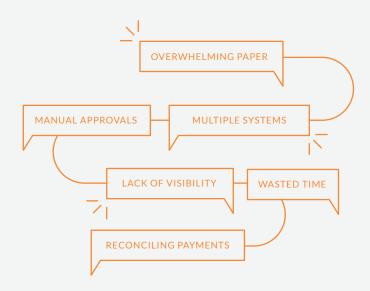

Become the primary financial institution for your business customers with Bill.com Connect, the end-to-end business payments platform for both payables and receivables.

Today's business customers have a payments problem: paper and process overload.

And yet, many small and medium-sized businesses (SMBs) are navigating this complexity with consumer online banking solutions that don't address their needs. Traditional solutions such as online bill pay actually add steps to the payment process. That may be why only a fraction of business payments are made using traditional online bill pay.

Treasury solutions are often too complex and costly, leaving SMBs without good payment options.

It's time to fix business-to-business payments and transform your bank's relationship with this important market.
