

Reasons to use Visual Aids

Using visual aids can:

reduce feelings of frustration, stress and confusion.

help with decision making.

enable feelings of independence and control leading to better communication and relationships support memory recall by combining words with images make events happen more smoothly and reduce time taken.

work across different settings and societies be used without the effect of different emotions created by voice,

can help everyone