

BE READY

BE INFORMED

Ask these three questions to your local candidate if you see them.

BE READY

BE INFORMED

Ask these three questions to your local candidate if you see them.

BE READY

BE INFORMED

Ask these three questions to your local candidate if you see them.

BE READY

BE INFORMED

Ask these three questions to your local candidate if you see them.

AID

1. Will you restore the international aid budget back to 0.7% of national income?

Until recently, we gave 0.7% of our national income to overseas aid but now it's only 0.5%. This means less money to spend on supporting people overseas to access health, education and humanitarian assistance.

TRADE

2. Will you ensure businesses protect people's rights and our environment?

Products consumed in the UK can often come from supply chains that involve human rights abuses or environmental damage.

FOOD

3. Will you ensure farmers across the world who are farming in ways that protect the environment receive support from the UK?

Seeds are often controlled by large multinational corporations. Small scale farmers in low-income countries need to choose what crops are most appropriate for them.

AID

1. Will you restore the international aid budget back to 0.7% of national income?

Until recently, we gave 0.7% of our national income to overseas aid but now it's only 0.5%. This means less money to spend on supporting people overseas to access health, education and humanitarian assistance.

TRADE

2. Will you ensure businesses protect people's rights and our environment?

Products consumed in the UK can often come from supply chains that involve human rights abuses or environmental damage.

FOOD

3. Will you ensure farmers across the world who are farming in ways that protect the environment receive support from the UK?

Seeds are often controlled by large multinational corporations. Small scale farmers in low-income countries need to choose what crops are most appropriate for them.

AID

1. Will you restore the international aid budget back to 0.7% of national income?

Until recently, we gave 0.7% of our national income to overseas aid but now it's only 0.5%. This means less money to spend on supporting people overseas to access health, education and humanitarian assistance.

TRADE

2. Will you ensure businesses protect people's rights and our environment?

Products consumed in the UK can often come from supply chains that involve human rights abuses or environmental damage.

FOOD

3. Will you ensure farmers across the world who are farming in ways that protect the environment receive support from the UK?

Seeds are often controlled by large multinational corporations. Small scale farmers in low-income countries need to choose what crops are most appropriate for them.

AID

1. Will you restore the international aid budget back to 0.7% of national income?

Until recently, we gave 0.7% of our national income to overseas aid but now it's only 0.5%. This means less money to spend on supporting people overseas to access health, education and humanitarian assistance.

TRADE

2. Will you ensure businesses protect people's rights and our environment?

Products consumed in the UK can often come from supply chains that involve human rights abuses or environmental damage.

FOOD

3. Will you ensure farmers across the world who are farming in ways that protect the environment receive support from the UK?

Seeds are often controlled by large multinational corporations. Small scale farmers in low-income countries need to choose what crops are most appropriate for them.

