Lilly named a finalist in the Australian HR Awards for the second year running

For the second year running Eli Lilly Australia & New Zealand (Lilly) has been shortlisted as an Excellence Awardee in the prestigious annual Australian HR Awards. The awards showcase the country's most outstanding HR teams, leaders and employers for their strategies, achievements, and programs over the past year.

Eli Lilly is a finalist in the Employer of Choice Award (100-999 employees) category. This award recognises the best organisation to work for in Australia with 100-999 employees and will be judged on leadership, engagement, communication, and employee benefits.

"Our people are the ultimate source of the value we bring to patients. We actively cultivate a culture of teamwork and inclusion, so everyone can bring their authentic self, diverse ideas, perspectives, and experiences in the pursuit of our purpose - to make life better," said Lilly ANZ General Manager, Benjamin Basil.

"Being recognised for a second year in a row is a proud moment for Lilly and reinforces our commitment to investing in our employees through competitive salaries, development and training, generous benefits, and the opportunity to make a positive impact on the world."

Lilly's submission showcased its strong Engagement Survey results, employee recognition and benefits, future-of-work model - 'Lilly@Work' - and their commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion. A key achievement was their consultative approach to the COVID-19 Vaccination Requirement, which resulted in 100 per cent compliance and employee retention.

"At Lilly we keep a continuous improvement mindset to always build on our HR programs, keeping what is most important at its centre - our employees," Mr Basil said.

Winners will be selected from the Excellence Awardees at the highly anticipated in-person gala on September 9, 2022.
