Students: Remembering the Private Body Parts Rule will help you keep yourself safe. Review the rule below and teach it to your family. Help everyone understand what each part of the rule means.

Private Body Parts Rule

Private body parts are private. No one should ever:

1. Touch yours, except a doctor or nurse
2. Ask to see yours, except a doctor or nurse
3. Make you look at his or hers, or anyone else's

And never touch anyone else's.

Family Safety Plan: Reporting a Broken Rule

Talk with your family about which adults you could report to about a broken Private Body Parts Rule at school, at home, and other places you go. Write their names below.

Adults at School	Adults at Home	Adults in Other Places

Talk with your family about what you should say if you need to report a broken Private Body Parts Rule and what they should say and do to help you stay safe after you report. Write what you and your family decide below.

What I can say:

What my family can say and do afterward:

Practice reporting a broken Private Body Parts Rule to an adult and have him or her respond supportively. Add this to your family safety plan.

Detach this slip and return it to your teacher after you have completed Grade 4, Home Link 4.
