ABOUT

Most hemp farmers grow identical plants year after year by taking cuttings from the same plant, genetically engineering them, and using pesticides to control hormones and maximize CBD isolate. We do things differently. Our exclusive population hemp is grown from organic, non-GMO seeds, allowing each plant to evolve naturally. This results in a diverse range of over 150 biological compounds, offering the full power of the hemp plant and a broader spectrum of benefits for your hardworking muscles and joints.

KEY INGREDIENTS

Full-spectrum population CBD

Our hemp is grown naturally—no pesticides, no clones, no feminization—for a unique full-spectrum CBD oil that's closer to nature and easier for your muscles and joints to absorb. Packed with 150+ biological compounds, it delivers a stronger entourage effect, with more compounds working together to enhance your results.

DeepSpectra Frankincense² extract

Delivering even more plant power to your skin, our patents-pending DeepSpectra technology captures key compounds, like boswellic acid, you won't find with other methods. Boswellic acid is one of the most researched components of Frankincense when it comes to human health.
