KEEP IN SHAPE
AS YOU AGE

Your basal energy metabolism rate declines with age; making it harder to stay in shape and achieve your ideal weight.

THE TWO TYPES OF ABDOMINAL FATS

No matter what your body shape is, excess fat is not good for your overall health.

Subcutaneous Fat is the 90% of your body fat that is stored just underneath the skin.

Visceral Fat is the hidden fat stored inside the abdomen and wrapped around the major organs. It is harder to lose and can be dangerous at higher levels.

THE UNIQUE BENEFITS OF BLACK GINGER PMF

BLACK GINGER The only type of ginger with Polymethoxyflavone (PMF)

PMF is an agent in reducing abdominal fat by increasing the body's energy and boosting metabolism, leading to weight loss paired with proper diet and exercise.

The PMF is proven to support the fat-consuming effect of reducing abdominal fat in those who have a higher BMI of 23 to 30 or those with a lower basal metabolism rate that declines with age.

TURMERIC

Naturally high in curcuminoids, which support the body's natural response to inflammation
