

Community Curators

Raquel Kaprosy

June 1, 2024

Raquel learned the art of weaving when she was six years old, progressing from bracelets and small belts to double-sided designs on larger looms. She believes each weaver is the main character of the story they want to tell through their loom; she is passionate about honoring her heritage and culture through the textiles she creates and stories she tells.

Event Recap:

See photos of Raquel during her live demonstration of weaving which she did for visitors at the Science Museum of Minnesota.

