Collectiv Selections Product Guide

About us

We are a next generation wholesale supplier, helping professional kitchens solve the challenges of today and tomorrow

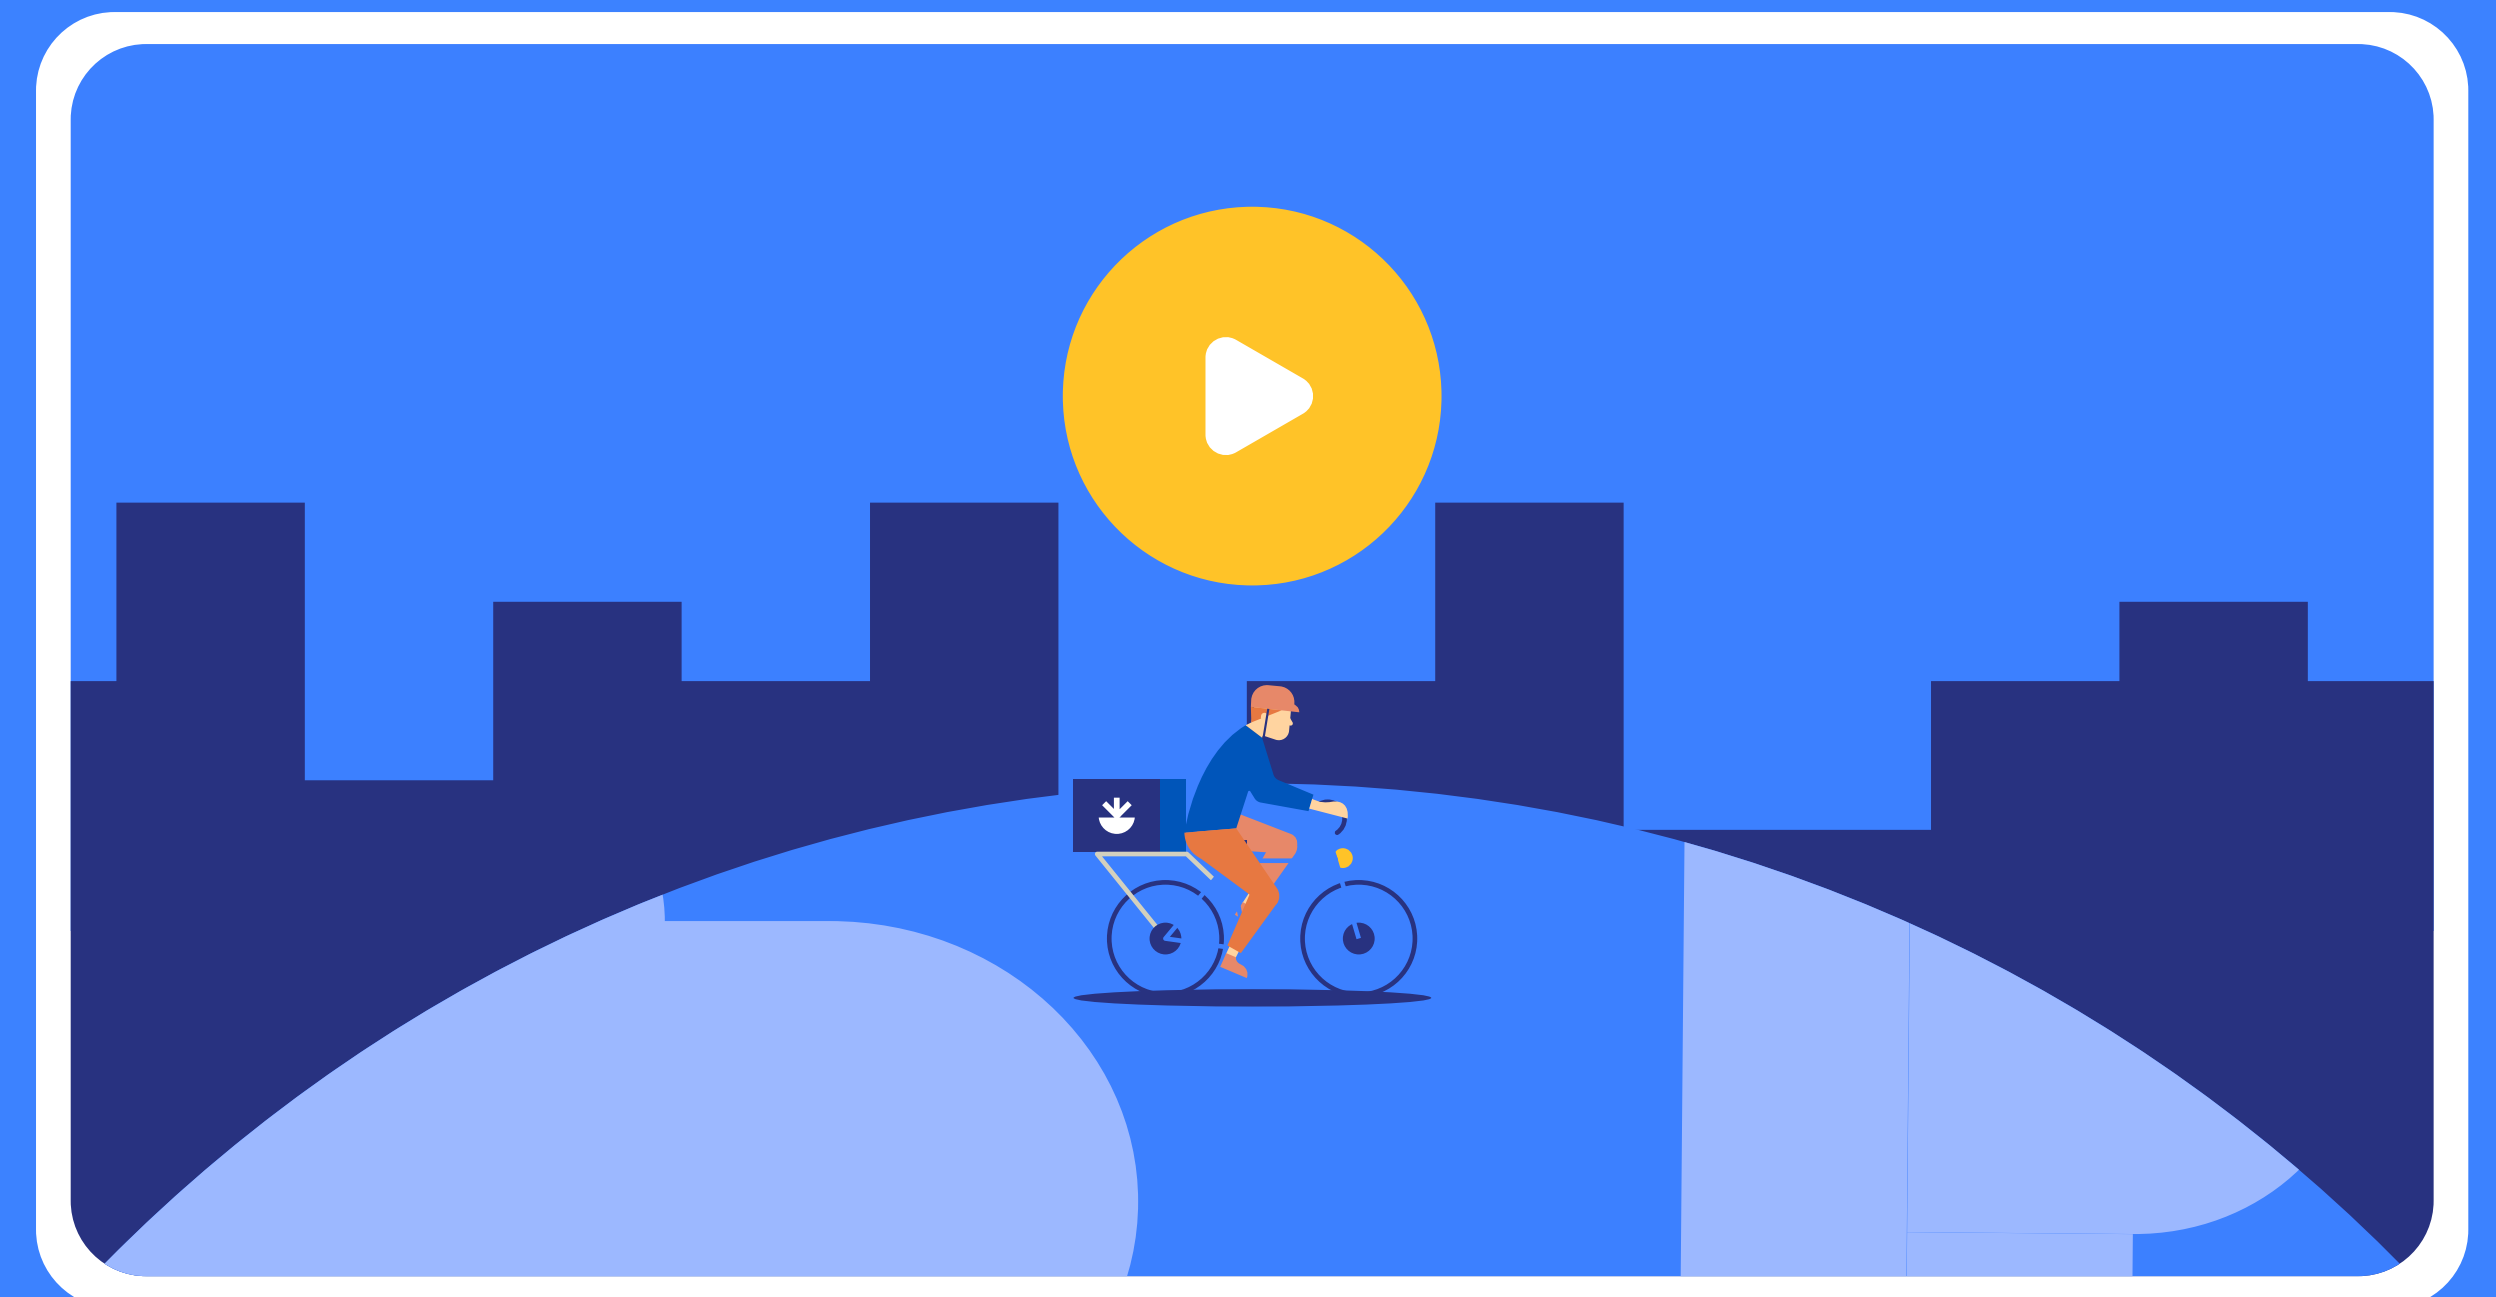

Our journey

We launched in London in 2018 – founder Jeremy had previously worked in forensic accounting, where a food wholesale investigation left him struck at the state of our supply chains. Opacity and malpractice are rife, with little benefit to either side of the system. Collectiv Food is the antidote, leading the transition to a fair, transparent and sustainable food supply chain

Our approach

We source quality meat, seafood and plant-based products directly from our network of producers and deliver to professional kitchens, harnessing your collective buying power. By going direct to source, we secure the best prices whilst guaranteeing traceability and enabling you to make better purchasing decisions. Combined with our unique delivery model and innovative technology, we are able to offer market-beating prices and reliable service, all underpinned by a commitment to sustainability

“The best feedback we’ve had is the number of sales we do with the seafood from Collectiv. When we introduced the crab pasta it matched the sales for our truffle pasta, which literally never happens.”
