

ANSWERING THE CALL FOR SPANISH PARITY

Language Equity, Materials Parity

American Reading Company offers ARC Core en español (K–5) to provide the Spanish parity that school districts are searching for.

Our instructional materials, professional development, incentive programs, and digital data-tracking system all serve to support achieving the goal of every student (Spanish- and/or English-speaking) performing on or above grade level.

The ENIL (Evaluación del nivel independiente de lectura) is built on the linguistic features—phonological, morphosyntactic, and semantic—authentic to Spanish. This assessment is responsive to the way these features shape the acquisition of literacy skills in Spanish in the areas of phonemic awareness, phonics, fluency, vocabulary, and comprehension. The ENIL is suited for the assessment of both reader proficiency and text complexity in Spanish.

Our classroom collections, built from an extensive database of more than 14,000 Spanish-language titles from U.S. and international publishers, reflect the richness and diversity of the Spanish language and Spanish-speaking cultures. Only the best authentic books and the finest translations are organized into leveled collections based on the developmental sequence of reading acquisition in Spanish.
