

LTE Backup

Business shouldn't stop and neither should your network.

LTE Backup provides a reliable backup Internet connection so that in the rare event of an Internet outage, your business remains operational.

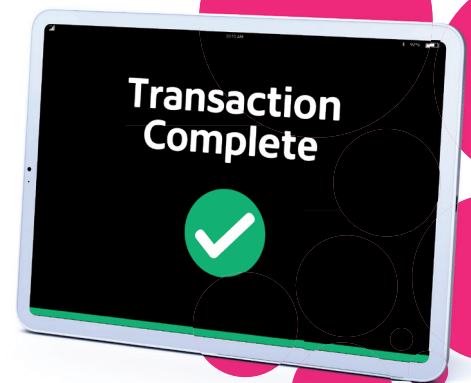

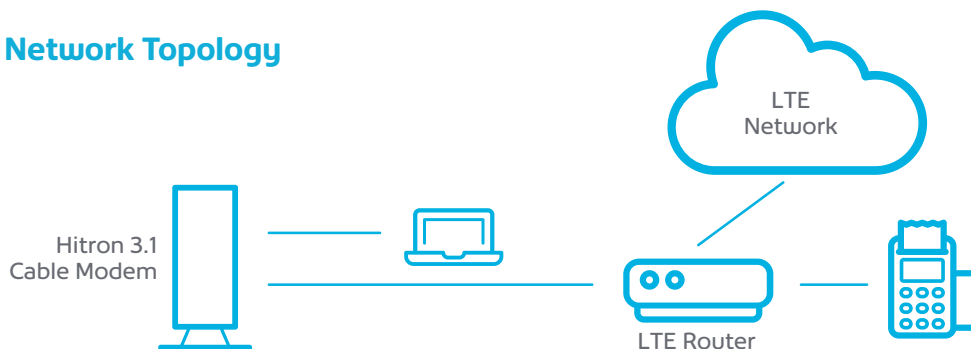

Keep your business running

- Rest easy – a reliable LTE backup connection means that even in the rare event of an Internet disruption, downtime won't hurt your business.
- The backup connection allows essential business functions – such as point of sale systems, back office connections, email and cloud-based applications – to remain connected.

You won't even know it happened

- Peace of mind? Piece of cake. During outages, the backup connection will automatically connect to the 4G LTE network.
- When your primary network comes back online, the connection will seamlessly reconnect to your main network. It's that easy.
