7 HILLS

we die on

Cincinnati is known as the city of seven hills. Crossroads has seven hills, as well—we call them the “seven hills we die on.” Simply calling these “values” doesn’t cut it. All too commonly, values have come to signify mushy, sentimental ideals for which we rarely fight. As a church, we believe that if something is worth living for, it is worth dying for. We realize we can’t do everything—but what we, as a community, are called by God to do, we do with excellence.

The Seven Hills We Die On are applications of biblical truth expressed through the unique personality of Crossroads. We remember these seven hills as ABCDERG (we really did try to find an “F” that worked, but finally gave up and went on to bigger things).

FAQ

Why do we ask people to stand up and sing?

The songs we sing are prayers set to music, and prayers are simply conversations with God. Standing puts our bodies in a posture of attention—like standing for the national anthem at a baseball game—and it’s a way to begin the conversation with God by saying, “right now you have my full attention and I’m open to hearing from you.”

Sometimes there's a gap between what we say we believe and what we actually do. So for six weeks we're digging into the book of James—to workshop with a master craftsman who teaches practical ways to turn head knowledge into hands-on reality.

meet ALISON

Alison Bauer teaches serves with third and fourth graders each week in Kids' Club.

Why would you encourage others to serve?
It's a great way to connect with others, and it helps make a big church feel smaller. I also love seeing the impact that you can have in the kids' lives when you decide to show up for them each week.

What attracted you to Kid's Club?

I have always enjoyed spending time with kids. They have such a fun-loving, carefree spirit that constantly makes me smile. I get the benefit of building into their lives, and they are always teaching me something new!

If you'd like to serve in Kids' Club, visit crossroads.net/enage or pick up a volunteer application at the Kids' Club Info Desk.

your kids will LOVE this

At Crossroads, kids have their own space called Kids' Club. While you're in service, your kids are hearing fun, engaging lessons and participating in small groups where they can ask questions and be themselves. They also have plenty of hang time with other kids and our (background-checked) volunteers. Don't let them tell you all they did was play, they learned something, too. Check out this week's lesson at crossroads.net/kc.

If you've got questions about Kids' Club or you'd like to spend time hanging out with some great kids, contact Kim Botto in Oakley at kbotto@crossroads.net or Beth Peery in Mason at bpeery@crossroads.net.
