

current message series

No matter our history or family of origin, we can all feel abandoned and alone. In the midst of life's challenges, it's easy to default to operating as emotional and spiritual orphans. But God has something better for us in store. Join us as we explore our true identities as God's beloved sons and daughters, and take our place of honor at the Father's table.

today

We'll be talking about ambition.

meet the WOLFENBERGS

Justin Wolfenberg helps lead the Foster Care Community Group, and his family lives out God's calling to care for orphans.

Why did you get involved in foster care?

We felt a prompting to expand our family, and there were kids in our backyard that needed a family. It has brought unity to our family, and now we are all on mission together, including our kids.

Favorite story from your experiences?

Our first foster child was born addicted to drugs and was practically comatose when we took him in. When he left us, he was a perfectly healthy six-month old. He came alive in our house, and our whole family played a part.

If you are considering foster care or would like to learn more, check out the Foster Care Community Group at crossroads.net/cg.

your kids will LOVE this

But not as much as they love you. We are pumped to have your kids in Kids' Club for an hour every week, but you are the real spiritual leader in your child's life. Does that freak you out? We've got you covered. You can see what they learned each week in kids club by checking out crossroads.net/kc.

Also, be on the lookout for parent pages that provide fun suggestions of things you can do at home to help lead your kids. Don't worry, our suggestions for home aren't nearly as messy as the weekend activities.

If you've got questions about Kids' Club or you'd like to spend time hanging out with some great kids, contact Kim Botto in Oakley at kbotto@crossroads.net or Beth Peery in Mason at bpeery@crossroads.net.

NEXT SERIES GAME CHANGERS

Throughout history a handful of individuals and communities have defied the odds, risen to the challenge of their day and fundamentally changed the world around them. No matter the situation, these Game Changers share common traits that we can apply to the challenges we face in our own lives and the battles to which we believe God is calling our community through the Game Change campaign.
