

Commercial Cleaning Has Evolved. Training Needs to Catch Up!

CLOROXPRO®

CloroxPro® asked Facility Managers and Building Service Contractors (BSCs) to let us know what they were facing since the pandemic started and to evaluate their current training programs. Here's what they said:

Cleaning Professionals Are EXPECTED TO DO MORE in Their Jobs to Help Protect Public Health

96% say they are being asked to do more cleaning and disinfecting to provide confidence to occupants and visitors

91% say their staff has had to learn new cleaning and disinfecting protocols

79% have had to hire and train new janitorial staff in the past six months

However, Current Training Programs Are NOT DOING ENOUGH

Most facility managers and BSCs agree training is important for staff to understand how to reduce the spread of germs, how to use products correctly and how to do their job safely.

When asked to describe their current training programs, many felt they are falling short.
