ELIZABETH SUTTON
COLLECTION

The Raynor Group has been an established furniture business since 1979. Our business started as a national marketing and sales organization representing Group Lacasse furniture. Based on a decision to diversify the company in the early 1980's we began to design and develop quality seating solutions for the office. Our goal is to be the leader in providing quick delivery, and easily customizable value seating solutions.

Today, we deliver over 500,000 chairs annually to customers throughout the US, and have expanded our business internationally.

The Raynor Group takes pride in developing lasting relationships while delivering quality products that provide profitable solutions for our contract dealers. Our passion is to design fashionable, functional, and value-driven office furniture products.

The Raynor Group strives to attain the highest level of quality and environmental standards with products that meet or exceed BIFMA ratings and carry Green Guard certification. To insure our customers' satisfaction with our products, we provide a comprehensive Limited Lifetime Warranty.

At 30, Elizabeth Sutton has already been dubbed the “artist and designer to know right now” by Forbes and her vibrant Pop Art creations have drawn comparisons to Andy Warhol.

In the five years since Sutton established herself as a professional artist, she has garnered a dedicated fanbase with 56,000 followers on Instagram and clients such as Andrea Bocelli, Kourtney Kardashian, Kendall Jenner, Karolina Kurkova, Pitbull, and Iris Apfel (Sutton’s art is likely one of the few things Pitbull and Iris have in common). Her fine art and designs have been featured in Bravo’s “Million Dollar Listing”, the New York Times, Architectural Digest, Forbes, Entrepreneur and others.

Sutton’s award-winning design work has exploded into the commercial space as well; she has collaborated with Joe & the Juice, Janovic, TileBar, and the Raynor Group. In 2018 she launched a fashion capsule collection with Bari Lynn.

Accessories, which was featured in Bergdorf Goodman’s holiday campaign.

In spring 2020, Sutton launched her podcast, Success by Design, which focuses on resilience and entrepreneurship. This new window into her life compliments her lifestyle blog, a forum for her to offer an intimate look at her creative process and life, like sharing favorite recipes and entrepreneurial advice.

Beyond her multi-faceted career, Sutton is passionate about empowering women—she is a single mom of two—and the New York City community, as she is a sixth-generation New Yorker. Sutton has raised hundreds of thousands of dollars for institutions like City Harvest, 92nd Street Y, ArtStart, United Hatzalah, Nicklaus Children’s Hospital, and Lenox Health Greenwich Village.

Sutton is truly an artist for our time, with art spanning all industries and media, a relentless drive to pursue her dreams, and a dedication to lifting people up. “Life is not always rainbows and butterflies,” Sutton likes to say. “But my art is.”

In just four years, Elizabeth Sutton has seemingly come out of nowhere to become an incredibly successful artist, designer, entrepreneur, and podcaster. Combining whimsy, lots of color and a big dose of humor into her work, it still remains sophisticated.

Raised in a Modern Orthodox Jewish household in Brooklyn, Sutton married young and lost (almost) everything in a divorce. However, that's not the only challenge she's experienced on her way up. But, like her signature butterfly designs, she's managed to come out of the cocoon of pain to a thriving business and beautiful new life.

Artist As Influencer

Elizabeth Sutton's story isn't that of a typical New York City artist. She didn't rise through the ranks at Parsons, or another prominent art school. Rather, she began to create out of necessity. After getting married at 21, things began to fall apart both with her marriage as well as financially. In the middle of renovating her apartment, she realized she wasn't going to be able to afford the art she wanted. So, she decided to make her own.
