Klimalieblinge, short waiting times and a food truck: new highlights in the mountain gastronomy

Andermatt/Sedrun/Disentis, 14 December 2023 - Andermatt+Sedrun+Disentis will be offering culinary delights in the 2023/24 winter season. The mountain restaurants now each offer their own house speciality. For example the Angeldog at the new Wandermatt food truck at Gütsch. The so-called Klimalieblinge (climate's favourites) have another advantage: they have a lower carbon footprint than comparable dishes with meat. Also, new digital services lead to more convenience in various restaurants.

The restaurants in the Andermatt+Sedrun+Disentis winter sports region each have their own house dish. These include local specialities such as Älplermagronen or Ryys und Poor and classics such as juicy hamburgers. Noteworthy: The dishes are available as Klimalieblinge – climate favourites with a lower carbon footprint. Klimalieblinge are marked with a special logo on the menu or on the menu boards and are immediately recognisable. Participating restaurants:

Delicacies on Gütsch

At Gütsch, in addition to the award-winning restaurants The Japanese by The Chedi Andermatt and Gütsch by Markus Neff, the Wandermatt food truck now offers a selection of take-away food and drinks – including comfortable seating with a wonderful view of the Ursern Valley and the numerous peaks all around.

Enjoying instead of queuing

Andermatt-Sedrun Sport AG is introducing digital processes in various restaurants to maximise the time available to enjoy the sun and the view. On the terrace of the Piz Calmot mountain restaurant, guests can easily order and pay via QR code. At the NätschenArena self-service restaurant, you choose your seat, order and pay for your meal online, collect it and simply show the receipt at the express checkout. Thereby the food stays warm and waiting times are short. This is also the case at the Wandermatt food truck, where you can order and pay digitally while queuing. In the lunch room at Restaurant Gurschen, you can now supplement your picnic with hot drinks and snacks. The service staff bring the items ordered online directly to your table.

Start of the season

All the new features will be introduced on Saturday, 16 December. From then on, the entire Andermatt+Sedrun+Disentis ski area will be open, and the large amounts of snow promise a great start into the winter season.

Andermatt Responsible
