Skier days

Skier days mean daily visits by guests who use a ski lift at the SkiArena (Andermatt-Sedrun). After the ski areas were linked, this figure reached a record of 469,443 in the 2018/19 season. With the start of the coronavirus pandemic in the spring of 2020, which was accompanied by the partial closure of ski areas, the trend did not continue in the following seasons. However, it can be expected that the frequency in the ski area will once again increase in the coming years, and with it the number of skier days.

In recent years, Andermatt has posted a sharp rise in overnight stays. They experienced veritable leap from 2018 to 2019, increasing from 137,273 to 189,126. As a result, there are now nearly twice as many overnight stays in the tourism region than there were 10 years ago. In line with the expansion of bed capacities, this trend is expected to continue in the future. Also gratifying is the growing popularity among Swiss guests: Their share has risen to almost 60 percent.

Weather

With 119 days of sun per year, Andermatt enjoys the sunny side of life. The mountain municipality is often free of fog, and particularly on Nätschen and Gemsstock, the sun shines very frequently: Between 2014 and 2019, one-half of all days in Andermatt were marked by sunshine. At the same time, the ski area Andermatt+Sedrun+Disentis is among the winter destinations most assured of snow cover, meaning that it has a double benefit.
