Many floral arrangements are designed to be used for a specific moment only and don't get watered in between: take floral crowns and pins, for example. This method is the perfect way to keep these keep these flowers fresh for as long as possible.

Gather together all the materials you need.

Cut a large piece of foil - large enough to wrap your floral arrangement with plenty of room to spare. Lay your floral arrangement on the foil.

Spray your floral arrangement with Finishing Touch.

Staple the foil together in such a way that all the moisture stays in the foil. Store your wrapped floral arrangement in the cold store. Make sure to tell your customers to keep the floral arrangement in the fridge for as long as possible too.
