

Glazen

Karaf 1 liter

Versie: Rev20260203

Schaal 1:1

Stappenplan

- 1 Laat het formaat ongewijzigd & maak het bestand op in de laag “Ontwerp”.
- 2 Houd je bij het opmaken aan de richtlijnen uit het document “Aanleveren” behorend bij het door jouw gekozen product.
- 3 Sla het bestand op als een PDF bestand zonder snijtekens of extra afloop. Controleer je PDF voor het aanleveren.

Aanvullende Informatie

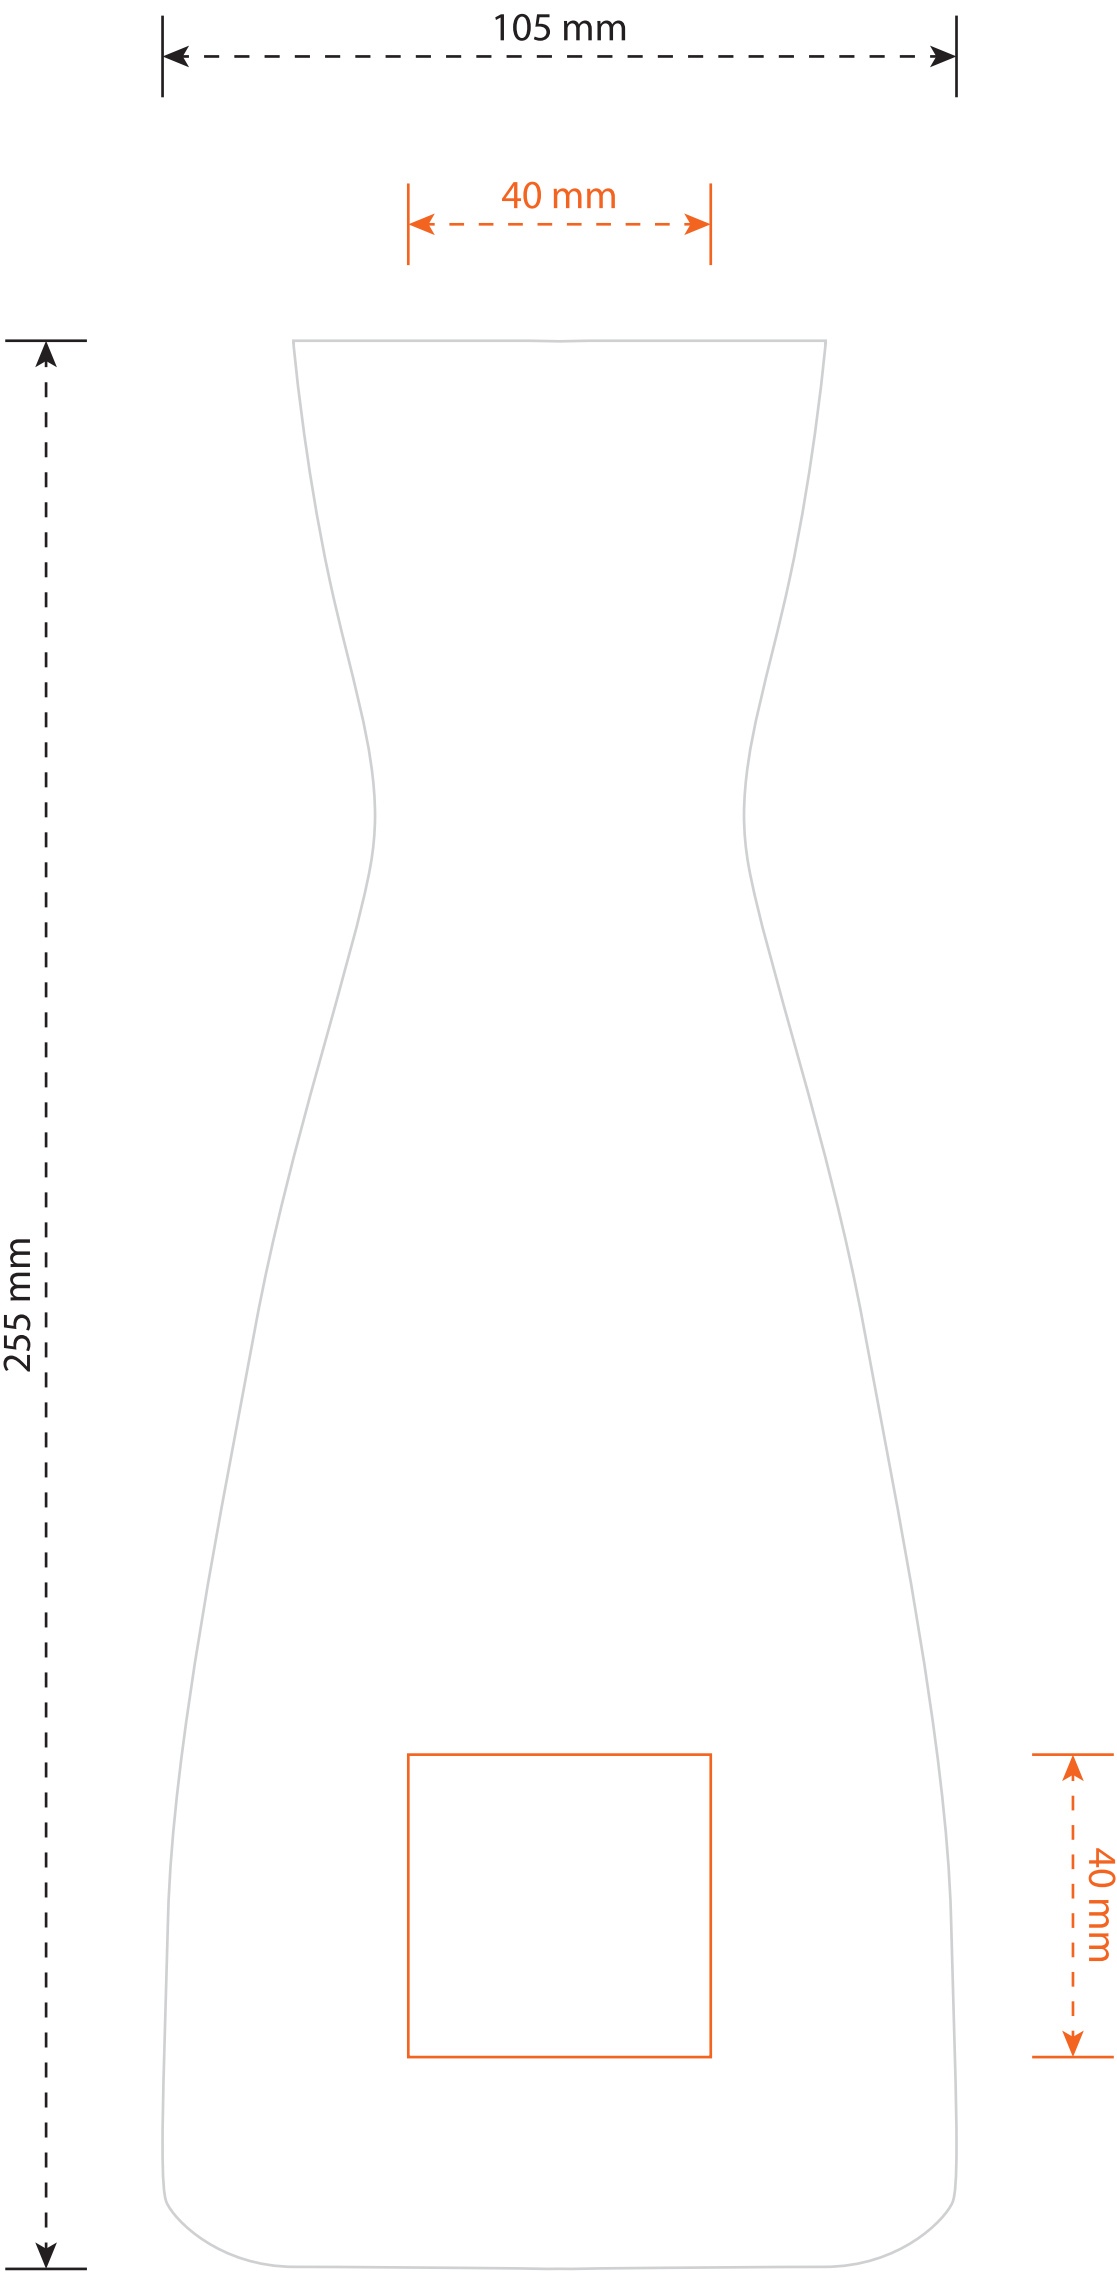

Werk je niet vanuit Adobe Illustrator? Verwijder dan alles wat niet gedrukt hoeft te worden en verwijder ook de lagen “Template” en “Informatie”.

Gebruik geen kleurstalen uit de werktekening, objecten met “DwD” in de kleurnaam worden mogelijk verwijderd.

Lever het bestand aan op het formaat 40 x 40 mm.

Legenda

- - - Aflopend ofwel aan te leveren formaat.
- Afgewerkt ofwel netto formaat.
- - - Advies veiligheidsmarge.
- Bedrukbaar gebied
- - - Vouw of rillijn
- Items in deze kleur zijn illustratief.
- Items in deze kleur zijn (semi) transparant.
- Items in deze kleur zijn optioneel en afhankelijk van de gekozen product opties.

the 1990s, the number of people in the world who are undernourished has declined by 100 million.

But the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating hunger. In 1996, 800 million people were undernourished, and 2.5 billion people were malnourished.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating poverty. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived on less than $1 a day, and 2.5 billion people lived on less than $2 a day.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating disease. In 1996, 5.7 million people died of preventable diseases, and 10.4 million people were infected with HIV.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating illiteracy. In 1996, 1.2 billion people were illiterate, and 2.5 billion people were functionally illiterate.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating environmental degradation. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were environmentally degraded, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were environmentally degraded.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating social inequality. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were socially unequal, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were socially unequal.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating gender inequality. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were gender unequal, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were gender unequal.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating racial inequality. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were racially unequal, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were racially unequal.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating ethnic inequality. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were ethnically unequal, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were ethnically unequal.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating religious inequality. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were religiously unequal, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were religiously unequal.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating linguistic inequality. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were linguistically unequal, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were linguistically unequal.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating cultural inequality. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were culturally unequal, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were culturally unequal.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating political inequality. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were politically unequal, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were politically unequal.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating economic inequality. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were economically unequal, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were economically unequal.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating technological inequality. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were technologically unequal, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were technologically unequal.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating information inequality. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were informationally unequal, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were informationally unequal.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating energy inequality. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were energy unequal, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were energy unequal.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating transportation inequality. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were transportationally unequal, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were transportationally unequal.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating communication inequality. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were communicationally unequal, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were communicationally unequal.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating health inequality. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were healthily unequal, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were healthily unequal.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating education inequality. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were educationally unequal, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were educationally unequal.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating employment inequality. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were employmentally unequal, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were employmentally unequal.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating housing inequality. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were housingly unequal, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were housingly unequal.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating food inequality. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were foodly unequal, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were foodly unequal.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating clothing inequality. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were clothingly unequal, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were clothingly unequal.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating recreation inequality. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were recreationally unequal, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were recreationally unequal.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating leisure inequality. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were leisurely unequal, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were leisurely unequal.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating travel inequality. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were travelly unequal, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were travelly unequal.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating shopping inequality. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were shoppingly unequal, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were shoppingly unequal.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating dining inequality. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were diningly unequal, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were diningly unequal.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating entertainment inequality. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were entertainmentally unequal, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were entertainmentally unequal.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating sports inequality. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were sportsly unequal, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were sportsly unequal.

And the world is still a long way from achieving the goal of eradicating hobbies inequality. In 1996, 1.2 billion people lived in areas that were hobbyly unequal, and 2.5 billion people lived in areas that were hobbyly unequal.