

Spotify For Brands - Privacy Policy

1. Introduction

Thanks for being a business partner of Spotify!

At Spotify, we want to give you the best possible experience to ensure that you enjoy working with us today, tomorrow and in the future. Privacy and security of personal data is, and will always be, enormously important to us. So, we want to transparently explain how and why we gather, store, share and use your personal data - as well as outline the controls and choices you have around when and how you share your personal data.

That is our objective, and this Privacy Policy ("Policy") will explain exactly what we mean in further detail below.

2. About this Policy

This Policy sets out the essential details about the processing of your personal data relating to your company's business relationship with Spotify, ("Spotify", "we", "our", "us"). This Policy also covers the processing of personal data within our Spotify For Brands educational portal ("Spotify Soundcheck").

For information about how we process your personal data relating to your private Spotify Service account, please be referred to our User Privacy Policy.

We hope this helps you to understand our privacy commitment to you. For information on how to contact us if you ever have any questions or concerns, then please see Section 12 "How to Contact Us".

3. Your rights and your preferences: Giving you choice and control

You may be aware that the (EU) General Data Protection Regulation or "GDPR" gives certain rights to individuals in relation to their personal data. As available and except as limited under applicable law, the rights afforded to individuals are:

- Right of Access - the right to be informed of and request access to the personal data we process about you;
- Right to Rectification - the right to request that we amend or update your personal data where it is inaccurate or incomplete;
- Right to Erasure - the right to request that we delete your personal data;
- Right to Restrict - the right to request that we temporarily or permanently stop processing all or some of your personal data;
- Right to Object -
 - the right, at any time, to object to us processing your personal data on grounds relating to your particular situation;
 - the right to object to your personal data being processed for direct marketing purposes;
- Right to Data Portability - the right to request a copy of your personal data in electronic format and the right to transmit that personal data for use in another party's service; and
- Right not to be subject to Automated Decision-making - the right to not be subject to a decision based solely on automated decision-making, including profiling, where the decision would have a legal effect on you or produce a similarly significant effect.

If we send you electronic marketing messages based on your consent or otherwise permitted by applicable law, you may, at any time, withdraw such consent or declare your objection ("opt-out") at no cost. The electronic marketing messages you receive from Spotify (e.g. those sent via email) will also include an opt-out mechanism within the message itself (e.g. an unsubscribe link in the emails we send to you).

If you have any questions about your privacy, your rights, or how to exercise them, please contact privacy@spotify.com. We will respond to your request within a reasonable period of time upon verification of your identity. If you are unhappy with the way we are using your personal data you can also contact, and are free to lodge a complaint with, the Swedish Data Protection Authority (Datinspektionen) or your local Data Protection Authority.

4. How do we collect your personal data?

We collect your personal data in the following ways:

1. Personal data provided by you – We may collect personal data from our business partners and their representatives at events, when you sign-up for a newsletter and through our business contacts with you.

If you create an account for Spotify Soundcheck, we ask for certain additional personal data about you in order to set up the account.

2. Personal data provided by your employer or by publicly available sources
– We may collect personal data from your employer and/or colleagues in our business contacts with them or by publicly available sources such as your LinkedIn profile.
3. Personal data provided through our business contacts or your use of Spotify Soundcheck – We may collect personal data of our business partners and their representatives, i.e. you, through our business contacts.

If you use Spotify Soundcheck, we may also collect personal data provided through your use of the portal.

4. Personal data collected that enables us to provide you with additional features/functionality – From time to time, you may also provide us with additional personal data or give us permission to collect additional personal data, e.g. to provide you with more features, additional services or invite you to Spotify events.
5. Personal data collected from third parties – We may receive personal data about you from third parties including partners we work with, in order to contact you with relevant information. We will use this personal data either where you have provided your consent to the third party, or to Spotify to that data sharing taking place, or where Spotify has a legitimate interest to use the personal data in order to provide or market Spotify for Brands.

We use anonymised and aggregated information for purposes that include testing our IT systems, research, data analytics, creating marketing and promotion models, improving Spotify for Brands, and developing new features and functionality within Spotify for Brands including Spotify Soundcheck.
