

That Figures: What's Going Wrong in Your Procurement Processes

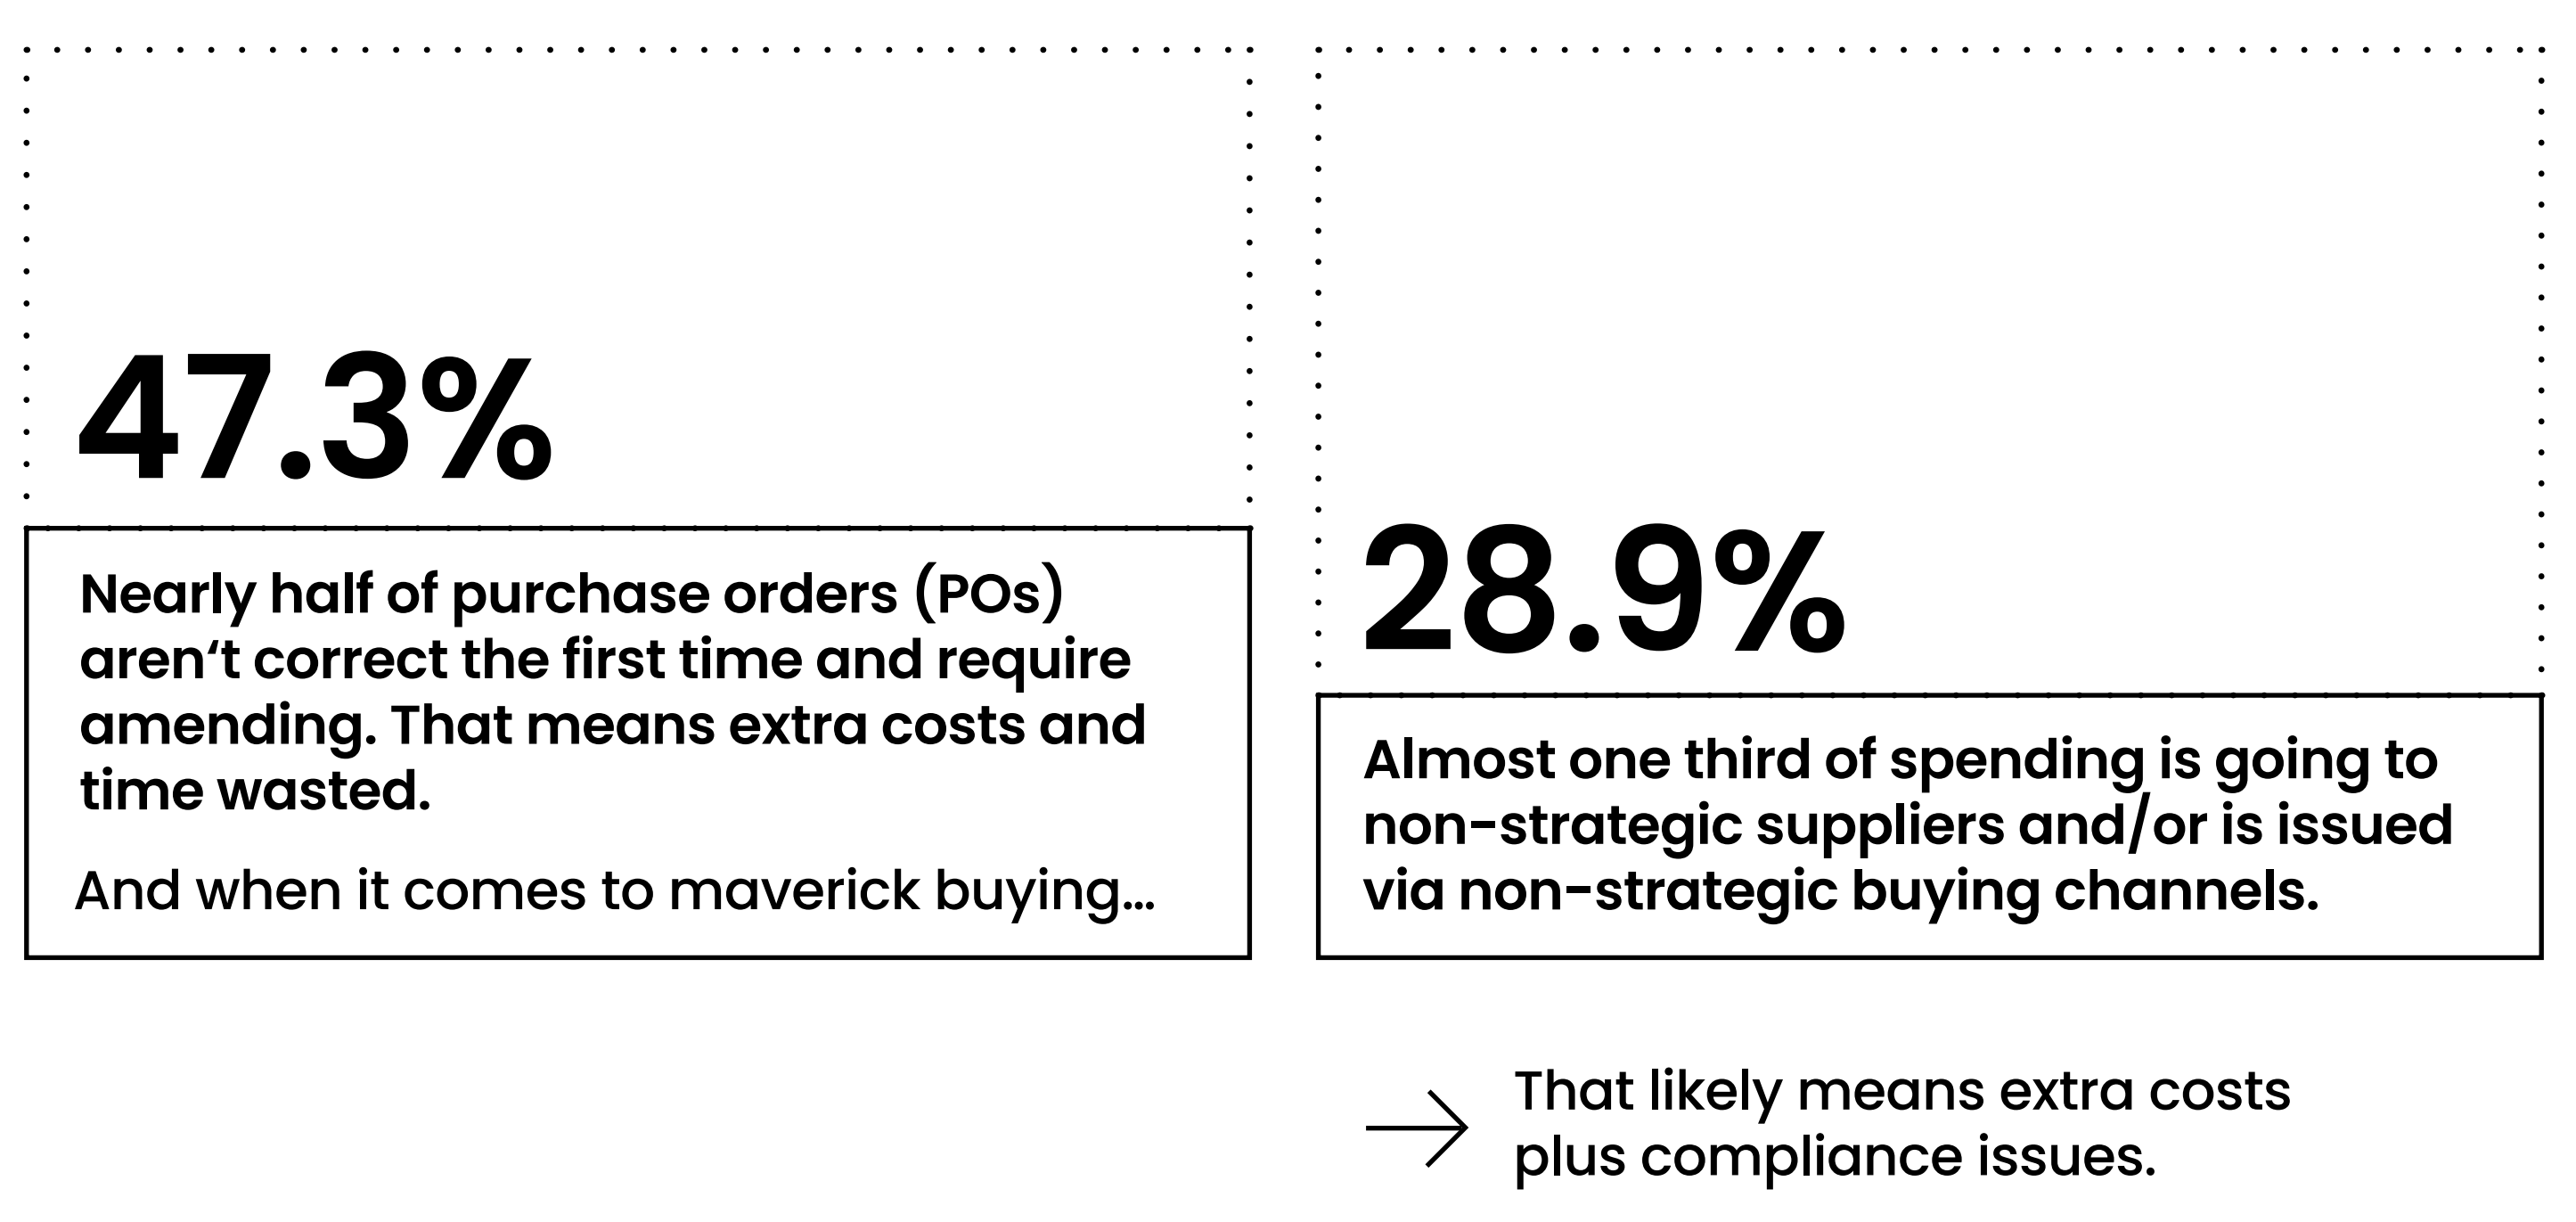

And how to make them more efficient and cost-effective

The top priorities for global Procurement leaders:

(Deloitte 2021 Global Chief Procurement Officer Survey)

But according to our survey of global companies...

It all comes down to process.
And some companies are better at optimizing processes than others.

What Procurement teams say is holding them back:

The answer?
Leading organizations are using process mining to increase efficiency and costs.

Two thirds of companies with revenues of more than $1bn are currently using process mining and intend to either maintain or increase spend on the technology.

Isn't it time you joined them?