

Celonis for Consulting

Partnering for Limitless Value Creation

FACT SHEET

In a nutshell:

The Celonis for Consulting platform enables data-driven client engagements that deliver measurable value – fast. It is made up of three project types that are focused on meeting the objectives of typical client engagements and aligned to how you deliver value.

Celonis for Consulting allows you to make objective, informed recommendations and turn them into business outcomes. The result? You accelerate the time-to-value for every engagement. Welcome to leaner, more effective work with higher margins. This is partnering for limitless value creation.

Take targeted action on facts, not feelings

As a consultant, you're no stranger to the slow, painful old way of investigating client problems: process mapping. If you're relying on sticky notes and subjective interviews to piece together process puzzles then you're likely hitting dead ends. There has to be a better way.

Enter: Celonis for Consulting

Purpose built for consultants, Celonis for Consulting makes process discovery a science, not an art. Celonis for Consulting creates a real-time MRI of your client's operations, uncovering business value opportunities within and across processes.

With this objective view of their processes, you can take targeted action to capture that value, all of it.

Thousands of consultants – including at Accenture, Deloitte, IBM and PwC – are already using Celonis for Consulting to accelerate process discovery, gain the competitive edge, and improve value delivery for clients.

This is Celonis in 20 seconds

Every business is a collection of interconnected processes that determine how effectively it runs and creates value

Celonis connects data from across every part of a business to deliver a real-time MRI of how all those processes work

Celonis then recommends actions and interventions, and orchestrates across the moving parts, to find and capture value opportunities – at the speed you need

Celonis for Consulting gives you access to this technology so you can capture millions (even billions) of dollars in business value currently hidden by process complexity
