Five reasons Process Intelligence helps you find and capture value

1 Data-driven decision making
Process Intelligence collects and standardizes process data in a single platform. This removes from decision-making any reliance on assumptions, anecdotes, and gut feeling.

2 Targeted, strategic automation
Enjoy full process visualization and identify workflows suitable for automation. Plus you can simulate the impact of automations before implementing them.

3 Feed intelligence to BI and apps
Process Intelligence pinpoints the “why” behind the bottlenecks and the issues that your BI tools flag. It also feeds intelligence into the applications your people are already working in.

4 Embed, build, enable: make AI work
AI embedded in Celonis Process Intelligence gives you immediate access to ready-to-use solutions. You can build customer solutions with AI using the Celonis toolbox. And enable AI anywhere in your tech stack by feeding Process Intelligence insights into copilots, agents, and algorithms.

5 Bridge the disconnect
Process Intelligence connects you to your processes, your teams to each other, and emerging technologies to your business.
