COCOA LIFE

Cocoa is at the heart of our chocolate.

We are proud to be one of the world's leading chocolate makers, and are determined to continue leading in helping to make cocoa right through our global cocoa sustainability program: Cocoa Life.

Cocoa Life has been running since 2012 and touches many aspects of life for communities in cocoa regions - from farming techniques, to looking after the environment and supporting the local economy.

All this is done through working together with local people, so that everything happens in a way that is right for the area and can continue for years and decades to come.

SOURCING FRESH MILK FOR MORE THAN 50 YEARS

Crafted in Mount Gambier, South Australia, Philadelphia cream cheese is an iconic crowd-pleaser.

Close to 190 million litres of fresh milk is sourced from local dairy farms annually, which in turn produces the equivalent of 100 million tubs for cream cheese lovers in Australia, New Zealand and around the world.

BEST CARE FOR COWS

The quality milk that we put into our products begins with healthy, well cared for cows. Animal welfare is critical to the Australian dairy industry and under the industry sustainability framework, goals and targets have been set to help ensure best care for all animals. Appropriate animal care is essential to the success of every farming business and it's the right thing to do.
