Understanding Toenail Fungus

Toenail fungus is a common problem worldwide.

It happens when fungi grow too much in, under, or on the nail. This usually happens in warm, moist places. Fungi get in through small cuts in the skin or where the nail meets the nail bed.

What Causes Toenail Fungus?

Dermatophytes are the main cause of toenail fungus.

They love damp, humid places. You can catch them in public areas like swimming pools, showers, and locker rooms.

Wearing tight shoes and socks that keep moisture in also helps fungi grow. Not keeping your feet clean and dry makes it easier to get infected.

Common Symptoms of Toenail Fungus

Spotting toenail fungus early is key to treating it.

Look for changes in nail color, like yellow or brown.

Nails might also get thick, brittle, and crack or break easily.

They might also smell bad, which is not only ugly but also uncomfortable.
