New York, NY, July 29, 2020 – Japan Society proudly announces its Fall 2020/Winter 2021 Performing Arts Season, featuring four innovative programs brought by visionary artists in music, theater, and more in virtual and experimental spaces. Taking this time of physical distancing as an opportunity, the program is offering new ways of bringing people together worldwide to share moments and inspiration unhindered by traditional limitations of live performance and travel.

“This lineup focuses on bridging the past and present, defying geographical distance, and collapsing the border between the physical and illusions,” says Yoko Shioya, Artistic Director. "Barcelona-based Japanese composer and high-tech sound artist Reiko Yamada redefines 'pastime' through her avant-garde music, which she will use to accompany Japanese silent films of sumo matches, trains, and old animations. Star kyogen actor Mansai Nomura proves that the 650-year-old tradition is fertile soil for his production of new kyogen pieces. Kuro Tanino's experimental theater piece, The Dark Master - an innovative production utilizing VR headsets and live elements - is the perfect answer for a theater experience in a social-distancing-ruled society.”

The on-site event in January will proceed at Japan Society in accordance with the updated health recommendations pertaining to COVID-19 – located at 333 East 47th Street in Manhattan. Tickets will be available to Japan Society members in late September. General tickets available in early October. For the most recent ticketing information and further details, please visit www.japansociety.org.

JAPAN SOCIETY PERFORMING ARTS SCHEDULE, SEPTEMBER 2020– JANUARY 2021, FOLLOWS.

MUSIC: Reiko Yamada’s Sound Installation on Silent Movies
Online Video Event
October 2020
Composer and high-tech sound artist Reiko Yamada (2015-16 Fellow at the Radcliffe Institute for Advanced Study at Harvard University and the 2016-17 artist-in-residence at IEM in Austria) uses the latest technologies in electronic and acoustic music “installation” to create an interdisciplinary collaboration that bridges the gap between time and space. Performing on period accordions, Yamada creates experimental and novel ways of presenting sound and visuals in a virtual landscape. She will redefine the definition of “pastimes” in her original, avant-garde scores to silent films of sumo matches, trains, and old animations from the early 20th century. The program is followed by a live Q&A with Reiko Yamada.

THEATER: Underground Fairy
15th Installment of Japan Society’s Play Reading Series
Online Video Event
November 2020
Written by award-winning playwright/director Satoko Ichihara, Underground Fairy addresses themes of isolation, inclusiveness, and the meaning of “community” as the play follows Yurieria, a half-fairy-half-human living in a fairy’s community. While Yurieria is accepted by the fairies, is their inclusiveness genuine if Yurieria is viewed as an outsider? Using a series of absurd vignettes, Ichihara questions societal norms and the feelings of isolation and segregation, as well as the meaning of female sexuality associated with fertilization. NY-based director Tara Ahmadinejad, who is known for her experimentation with new ways of theater presentation using elements of Virtual Reality, animation, videos, and online components, will lead American actors in creating an innovative online presentation. Elements of audience participation will be incorporated in this online production. There will be a live post-performance Q&A with Tara Ahmadinejad and Satoko Ichihara (in Tokyo.)

THEATER: Mansai Nomura’s New Kyogen
Online Video Event
December 2020
Mansai Nomura, the beloved traditional kyogen actor, will appear online to show his new kyogen creations — Kagami-kaja (A Mirror Servant) and Ayu (Sweetfish) on two consecutive days. These pieces will be accompanied by a traditional kyogen piece. Kagami-kaja begins as a lighthearted exchange between a servant and his mirror image, but quickly takes a turn for the absurd when the servant finds himself trapped in the mirror. Ayu ridicules the human ego and ambition through juxtaposition with open-mindedness. These performance videos are preceded by Mansai's introduction of each piece (with English subtitles), and will be followed by his “live” post-performance talk + Q&A (with an interpreter).

THEATER: The Dark Master

On-Site Virtual Reality Event

January 2021

Written and directed by psychiatrist-turned-director/playwright Kuro Tanino, The Dark Master is an immersive and humorously-dark experimental theater play addressing "self and other," dictatorship, and the process of total absorption in a new ‘live performance’ style. A young backpacker slowly becomes one with the ‘Master’ of a local eatery. Tanino explores unconventional presentations of theater by utilizing VR (Virtual Reality) headsets for a limited audience of 10-12 people and by combining special physical and sound effects, like the smell of a meal being cooked. The VR and physical isolation of each audience member heightens the effect of slipping into total mind control with the young backpacker and the blurred lines between self and the "Master."

Biographies of Artists

Reiko Yamada is a composer and sound artist, holding a PhD. in music composition from McGill University. Originally from Hiroshima, Japan, Yamada is currently working on a project in Barcelona, Spain. She composes concert works, creates sound art installations and works with interdisciplinary collaborators. Her work explores the aesthetic concept of imperfection in a variety of contexts. Her works have been presented in venues such as The Metropolitan Museum Breuer (New York), Boston Symphony Hall and Centre Pompidou (Paris). She is currently STARTS’ (Science, Technology & the Arts) artist-in-residence, collaborating with medical and photonics researchers on a project about thyroid cancer.

Satoko Ichihara writes and directs plays that deal with human behavior, the physiology of the body, and the unease surrounding these themes using her unique sense of language and physical sensitivity. Other themes include sex, cross-mating, and breeding which are clinically portrayed through the viewpoint of women in Ichihara’s works. The patriarchal and anthropocentric narrative of sexuality and reproductive behavior become invalidated, and the ethics and morals of the social majority are radically called into question. She is a 2020 recipient of the prestigious Kishida Kunio Drama Award.

Tara Ahmadinejad is a NY-based director and theater-maker, and co-founding member of live arts collective Piehole. Recent new play directing includes: Lunch Bunch (Clubbed Thumb’s Summerworks, NY Times Critic’s) and Chana Porter’s Leap and the Net Will Appear (New Georges in NYC; Catastrophic Theater in Houston). With Piehole: Disclaimer, written by Ahmadinejad (The Public’s Under the Radar 2020; Emruz 2019), Tread on Me, Tread Softly (audio-theater collaboration with writer Celine Song, in development), and collaborations in augmented reality and virtual reality with the LA-based Tender Claws, Tendar (Sundance 2018) and The Under Presents (Oculus, Sundance 2019). Ahmadinejad is a NYTW Usual Suspect, a New Georges Affiliated Artist, a Clubbed Thumb Directing Fellow, and holds a Master of Fine Arts from Columbia University.

Mansai Nomura II studied under his father Mansaku Nomura and his late grandfather Manzo VI Nomura (both Living National Treasures). Mansai Nomura made his stage debut at the age of three. His acclaimed stagings go far beyond those of traditional actors, playing the title roles of Oedipus, directed by Yukio Ninagawa; Hamlet, directed by Jonathan Kent; and starring in hit Japanese movies. Beyond acting, he is committed to directing plays that merge classic and contemporary, East and West. In addition to his own creations of “new” kyogen pieces including The Kyogen of Errors, based on Shakespeare's The Comedy of Errors, his directing credits include Kuni-nusu-bito (from Richard III) and Atsushi (from the late Atsushi Nakajima's Sangetsu-ki and Meijinden). He has performed at international festivals and prestigious venues, including Lincoln Center, Kennedy Center, Guggenheim Museum, and Shakespeare's Globe, to name a few. He has received numerous awards and prizes, including the National Arts Festival New Artist Award and the Ministry of Education's Art Encouragement Prize for New Artists. Mansai is designated Chief Executive Creative Director for the opening and closing ceremonies of the 2020 Tokyo Olympics.

Kuro Tanino, born in 1976, is the founder/director/playwright of Niwa Gekidan Penino. After launching Niwa Gekidan Penino while still a medical student in 2000, he has since written and directed all the company’s plays, which tour internationally regularly. Aside from his company work, he wrote and directed Chekhov?! for Tokyo Metropolitan Theatre in January 2011. In 2014, Niwa Gekidan Penino made their U.S. debut tour, produced by Japan Society, and performed in NYC (Under the Radar Festival), Walker Arts Center, Philadelphia FringeArts, Wexner Center for the Arts, and On the Boards. Other international appearances include Festival d'Automne à Paris, Aarhus Festival in Humberg, No Limit Festival in Hong Kong, OzAsia Festival in Adelaide, among many others. In 2015, Tanino was invited by Theatre Krefeld in Germany as a resident artist to write and direct a new piece, Käfig aus Wasser in March. His Avidya—The Dark Inn won the prestigious Kishida Kunio Drama Award in 2016.
